McAllister's All-healing Ointment McAllister's All-healing Olintment
I is generally conceded that this Medicine has effected more coures than any aeven remedies ever presented to the public. It has probably coved more cases of Piles, Rheumatiam, ore Eyes, Burns, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Quincy, Sore Throat, dcc., than all the popular medicines in use. and I am positive in Liver Compitaint, orofula, Astbma, Coughs, Consumptions, Spinal Diseases Worms, Broken or Sore Breasts, Headache and the like, nothing can be found with physicians or druggisty that is as good, and the cure so quick. In all complaints peculiar to females especially, its efficacy appears al most miraculeus.

In the first year of the settlement of the country, a wedding engaged the attention of the whole neighborhood; and the trolic was antic pated by old and young with eager expectation. This is not to be wondered at, when it is told that a welding was almust the only gathering which was not accompanied by the labor of reaping, log rolling, building a cabin. or planning some scout or campaign.

On the morning of the wedding-day. the groom and his attendants assem bled at the house of his father, for the purpose of reaching the home of his bride at nous, which was the usual time for celebrating the nuptials; and which, for certain reasons must take place before

Let the reader imagine an assemblage of people, without a store, tailor, or mantua maker within a hundred miles, and an assemblage of herses, without a blacksmith or saddler within an equal distance. The gentlemen dressed in shoepacks, moccasins, leather breeches, leg gins, linsey hunting shirts, and all home ma te. The ladies dressed in linsey pettic ats, and larsey or linen bed gowns. oarse shoes, slocking han !kerchief- and buckshin gloves, if any. If there were any buckles ect, they were family pieces from parents of grand-parents. The horses were caparisoned with old suddles, or bridles or halters, and packsaddles, with a bag or blanket thrown over them; a rope or string as often construted the girth as a piece of leather.

The march in double time was often interrupted by the narrowness and obstructions of our horse paths, as they were called, for we had no roads, and thes difficulties were often increased, sometimes by the good and sometimes by the ill will of neighbors, by falling trees, and tying grape vines across the Sometires an ambuscade was form d by the way side, and an unexpe ied discharge of several guns took place so as to cover the wedding company with smike. Let the reader imnotine the scene which followed this discharge, a sudden spring of the horses, the shriek of the girls, and the chivalrous busile of their pariners to save them from filling. Sometimes, in spite of all that could be done to prevent it, some were thrown to the ground, If a wrist, elbow, or ankle happened to be strained, it was tied with a handkerchief, and a linke more thought or said about it. T e ceremo iy of the marriage preceded the finner, which was a backwoods feast of park, beef, fowls, and sometimes venisin and heir meet, roasted and holed, with pleuty of potaloes, cabbage and other vegetables. During the dinner the gra'est hearily always prevailed; allh jugh the table might be a large slab of hean timper, hewel out with a broad axe, supported by four sticks set in anger holes; and the furniture, some old pewter distins and plates; the rest wooden bowls and t etchers; a few pewter spoons much baitered about the elges, were seen at so he tables. The rest were made of horns. If knives were scarce, the deficiency was nide up by the scalping knives, which were carried in sheaths suspended to the belt of the hunting shirt. Every man carried one of them.

After dinner the dancing commenced, and generally lasted till the next morning. The figure of the dances were three and four handed reels, or square seits and jus The commencement was always a square four, which was followed by what is called jugging it off; that is, two of the four would single out for a jig, and followed by the remaining. The jus were often accompanied by what is e had cut ing out; that is when either of the parties become tired of the dance, on intim tion, the place was supplied by some one of the company without any interruption to the dance. In this way a dance was often continued until the musici in was heartily tired of his situation. Towards the latter part of the night, if any of the company, through weariness, attempted to conceal themselves for the purpose of sleeping, they were hunted up, paraded on the floor, and the fildler ordered to play 'Hang out till to-morrow morning.

About nine or ten o'clock, a deputation of the young ladies stole off the bride, and put her to bed. In doing this, it frequently happened that they had to ascend a ladder instead of a pair of stairs, leading from the dining and ball room to the loft, the floor of which was made of clapboards lying loose. This ascent, one might think, would put the bride and her attendant to the blush; but as the foot of the ladder was commonly behind the door, which was purposely opened for the occasion, and its rounds at the inner ends were well hung with hunting shirts, dresses and other articles of clothing, the candles being on the opposite side of the house, the exit of the bride was noticed but by few. This done, a deputation of young men in like manner stole off the groom, and placed him snug. ly by the side of his bride. The dance still continued; and if seats happened to be scarce, which often was the case. every young man, when not engaged in the dance, was obliged to offer his lap as a seat for one of the girls; and the offer was sure to be accepted.

In the midst of this hilarity, the bride and groom were not forgotten. Pretty late in the night, some one would remind the company that the new couple must stand in deed of some refreshment. Black Betty, which was the name of the bottle, was called for, and sent up the ladder; but sometimes Betty did not go alone. I have many times seen as mi ch bread, beef, pork and cabbage sent up, as would make a meal for half a dozen men. The young couple were compel-

Late Professor of the Roole Clinique de Medicine e Phermaciela Parls, having been practising medicine 29 years past, BEGS leave to announce to hisfriends and the publication of the manufertine, in youring the following diseases: Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Fits, Dropsy, Dyspepsis, Liver Complaints, Piles, Pistalas, Gout, Rheumatism, Scrofuta, White-wellings, Diseases of the Skin, Nervous Affections, Fever and Ague, Billous Complaints, &c., &c.

The success which Dr. V. has met with by hispeculiar mode of treating all kinds of diseases, has been asternishing—curing the most desperate cases after repeated failures of the most eminent practitioners in the country. As a proof of the Doctor's merits untried, he will undertake the cure of all patients without charge, excepting the cost of the medicine, requiring nofee unit, after the restoration of their health, and the full leating faction to he patient's mind of the benefit conferred.—This is the principle upon which Dr. Vanderslice is governed in alleases with his practice.

Persons afficted with fullions, &c., &c., can have them entirely removed and permanently cured wishout pain. Thousands of persons have been cured by Dr. V. and can be at testimony to his wonderful success. Females suffering with irregularities, nervousness debility, &c., can be permanently cured by the treatment of Dr. Vanderslice. Ladies, let no scruples at alse delicacy hinder you from applying in proper person, when you can be so readily restored to health. Diseases of a peculiar character are guaranteed to removed in a few days, radically, without offensive and eleterrous medicine.
